Region Overview

There aren't a lot of distractions in the Dunnigan Hills. Completely off the beaten track, it's still a region mostly unknown, an intriguing area that attracts those creating their own adventures. Tucked into the remote northwest corner of Yolo County, wild grasslands and agriculture mingle in rural harmony.

Rising from the valley floor, the area's hills are broad and flat. The rolling landscape unfolds to reveal pockets of vineyards beneath a broad expanse of sky. Those distinctive flat-topped summits inspired the Flat Top Hills name, along with its wines.

Climate & Soils

It's a Mediterranean climate, with warm days and cool nights, when cooling breezes sweep in off the Sacramento River Delta. Grapes develop robust flavors during the temperate growing season. It's also traditionally dry, which further stresses grapes and adds to better concentration. Soils are typically gravelly loam, or clay over sandstone.

Farming

The Mondavi family has owned and farmed vineyards here for generations, and has 300 planted acres in the Dunnigan Hills. As children, the fourth generation Mondavi cousins would visit the vineyards to play, dream and explore as they dashed through the vines. Those memories of a carefree life, lived in the moment, inspire Flat Top Hills. Always mindful about the impact on the earth, the vineyards are farmed sustainably, taking care to minimize use of natural resources. With Mother Nature's help, Flat Top Hills wines are well-structured and balanced, pairing easily with a relaxed family meal, a weeknight celebration or just a conversation with a good friend.
